REPORT OF INTERVIEW With Nancy Shay, on October 10, 1992 at 2:30 p.m. at 38 Jay Street Somerville, Mass. by Special Agents John S. Paolillo and Edmond G. Cronin of the Bureau of ATF Ms. Shay stated the following: Ms. Shay is 25 years old and currently resides at 38 Joy Street Somerville, Ma. She lives with one roommate, Debra Canejo, and they've lived together for three years. Ms. Shay is employed by Hinds Manufacturing located in Woburn, Ma. Ms. Shay stated that the last time she saw her brother Tommy was in early January of this year when the two were visiting their mother's residence at the Falls in Quincy. She said that Tommy said very little and she does not recall seeing him again in January. Ms. Shay indicated that she visited Tommy in jail, Nashua Street, a few times between Tommy returning from San Francisco and - September. She said that Tommy never spoke about anything significant related to the bombing when she visited him in jail. Ms. Shay stated that she is not that close to Tommy mostly due the fact that she rarely sees him. Ms. Shay is a recovering alcoholic and goes to weekly therapy for her problem. Tommy would occasionally call her from various places around the country but Ms. Shay could not recall the different locations.

DETAILS (Continued)

Ms. Shay remembered back to the day the bombing occurred, October 28, 1991, and what she was doing. Ms. Shay, stated at the time, was working at "Everything Yogurt" in South Station. Her shift that day was 7am -3pm and she heard about the bomb from her brother Tommy. Tommy stopped to visit her at work and according to Ms. Shay, he appeared shocked at what had happened at their father's house. Tommy never told Ms. Shay what, if anything, he knew about the bombing. She described him as being shocked and also Ms. Shay stated she did not know if Tommy was with anyone or where he went the day of the bombing. Ms. Shay thinks that the two people from the gas station planted the bomb under her father's car because of the law suit brought against both of them.

Subsequent to the bombing Ms. Shay saw Tommy over their mother's house in Quincy she stated never relayed any information to her related to the bombing. Ms. Shay told her brother Tommy not to make any statements to the press about the bombing. She said that to Tommy because she knows how he seeks attention any way possible. Ms. Shay indicated that in early November 1991, Tommy was hanging around South Station with frequency. Tommy would visit Ms. Shay at "Everything Yogurt" from time to time but would never discuss much of anything with her. Ms. Shay reemphasized that she did not know who Tommy was hanging around with at the time of the bombing and shortly thereafter. However, Ms. Shay did indicate that she knew three of Tommy's friends. One being Randy Stoller, who owns a clothing store, and the other being Bill Macphee, who wrote Tommy letters and visited him in prison, and a third friend named Ralph (LNU). She stated she had met all of them but never had any significant discussions with them. Ms. Shay further stated that she never heard of John Cates or knew of him in any way. She knew of Al Trenkler only after his name was made public, but knew nothing personal of him or of his relationship with Tommy.

Ms. Shay described, according to her father, the events leading up to the bombing. She stated that her father found the bomb the night before, not knowing what it was, and kicked it against the side of the house. The next day his father went to see a friend at a body shop. The friend advised that the item (bomb) was not part of his vehicle. The father then went to the police station. The police responded with two bomb technicians to examine the item (bomb). The father and other officers at scene backed away from the bomb while the bomb technicians examined the device. Ms. Shay stated her father then heard what he described as tap - tap - boom! Ms. Shay stated her father reacted in a totally shocked manner and has been living in fear ever since.
